PSSCC Members to Judge 14th Annual Cascade Stereo Exhibition on Saturday

At our next meeting, our club's monthly competition will be replaced by a special event – PSSCC will have the opportunity to participate as judges to select images for the Cascade Stereoscopic Club's annual PSA-sanctioned exhibition. Over 100 stereo images have been entered in the Open Digital category, as well as many slides, cards and altered reality digital images. In addition to judges, we will also need volunteers to record scores. Last year's exhibition was won by our own Bob Venezia. This year Bob will be competing with stereo photographers from as far away as Germany and Australia.

The PSSCC exists to provide a venue for the promotion and enjoyment of stereo photography through education, presentations, and critiques. The Club meets on the second Saturday of the month at noon, September through June, at the Federal Way Senior Center in Auburn, WA. Back issues of this newsletter can be viewed by joining the PSSCC Yahoo Group at <http://tech.groups.yahoo.com/group/PSSCC>. Please join us at our next meeting.

SEPTEMBER COMPETITION WINNERS – THEME “WHAT I DID LAST SUMMER”

First Place: Bob Gordon for “Cruise Ship Chandelier.”

Second Place: Shannon Milner for “Spanish Windmills.”

Third Place: Wayne Pennington for “Sequim Lavender Festival.”

PSSCC's Arachnophile, Marlin Peterson Is Providing Seattle Tourists with a Startling Spectacle on a Warehouse Rooftop.

Peterson's giant eight-legged tromp l'oeil crawly creatures were the brain children of the illustrator, muralist, and stereo enthusiast. Marlin created wire models of two Harvestmen, also known as "Daddy Long Legs" to capture the realistic shadows before transferring his 2,100 square foot optical illusion to the rooftop of a large warehouse in the shadow of the Space Needle.

Marlin puts the finishing touches on his rooftop tromp l'oeil masterpiece.

Displaced Persons Mart McCann and Frank Barnett Carry On From a Cheap Hotel Room Somewhere Near the End of PDX's Runway 28L

Is This Any Way to Spend the Beginning of Autumn?

Your intrepid editors are truly homeless! Instead of spending the last lazy days of Indian Summer traipsing through Portland's verdant Washington Park and the Pearl District's plentiful art galleries, we spent our late summer days packing all of our worldly goods into boxes following the sale of our NE Portland condo. The quick sale really caught us by surprise. Just two days after listing, we had a solid offer on our house and a backup to boot.

Picture us now. We're in our hotel room surrounded by potted plants we didn't want to ship, our computers (all four of them), and to save money, we even brought along our wonderful Italian espresso machine. We can't live without our triple-shot morning latte. Oh, and our little mini-Aussie companion "Oz" is here with us as well.

Our new home closes escrow this Friday, but we can't take possession until the 19th, so we'll be here for another week-and-a-half!

We hope you'll all forgive us a shorter than usual newsletter as we don't have all of our regular resources.

We've been so busy packing, signing documents, and house-hunting that taking in a movie has been simply out of the question. However, we can't let this newsletter slip by us without mentioning the latest 3D release from LAIKA, the makers of our favorite animated 3D feature, Coraline.

We're sure you won't want to miss ParaNorman. The trailers look terrific and that's all we had time to watch. The plot centers around a social outcast who saves his town from a centuries-old curse by taking on zombies and grown-ups. Also not to be missed is Frankenweenie, Tim Burton's latest 3D stop-motion animated hit.
